

Client Victories from Spring Session

"She was tired and not interested in class at the start but by the end she was trotting in two point unsnapped!! She was so proud of herself. She is in LOVE with her sidewalker so they will be a team next session for sure!"

"He blew me away with his skills today! By the end of class he was trotting in two point with no hands with PERFECT LEG POSITION!! I was envious of his solid still lower legs!!!"

"M rocked it out of the park! She was so on top of everything last night. She was listening and using her reins for steering and stopping, but her 2 point was the real winner today. She was popping up into a balanced 2 point with no reminders."

"J and C have really come out of their shells. It was so fun to chat and joke with them in class. Their horse skills and confidence have grown too."

EAL is a Uniquely Impactful Experiential Learning Process

EAL allows individuals to grow in communication, awareness, observation, focus, work ethic, self-esteem and self-confidence.

All activities are done on the ground with the supervision of a Certified Therapeutic Riding Instructor working to meet goals using various activities such as grooming, lungeing, leading and much more. Our clients come from schools, scouts, elder care, religious organizations, group homes, sports teams, summer camps, and more! All abilities are welcome.

Herd Dynamics Takes Team Building to a New Level

Herd Dynamics uses Equine Assisted Learning to foster personal and professional growth for participants. This approach does not require horsemanship or riding skills but rather creates a partnership between participants, horses, and coaches.

Through activities, observation and reflection, your group will enjoy an experiential opportunity to see challenges in a different way. Herd Dynamics builds teamwork, confidence, and creativity!
